We had a great meeting last week as we awarded our MIS Scholarships and were entertained with three stories from Anderson students.

Tim Caspers, the writing advisor at Anderson accompanied three of his students who read their stories to us. First up was Oren who wrote a poem extolling his love of pizza. Second was Ben Dyer who read his non-fiction story about World War II, including an about the author section. Last was Monica who told us her story about her baby sitter Mary Poppins who turned out to be Scary Mary.
